

Lieber CI Adopts School

Lieber Correctional Institution is using the holiday season as the right time to adopt the Fifth Grade class at Clay Hill Elementary School in Ridgeville. It is all part of Warden Joseph McFadden and his staff's plan to improve the quality of life at Lieber CI by providing a positive atmosphere and opportunity for rehabilitation which extends beyond the prison walls.

Donations of over $700.00 were collected by Lieber staff that will allow the 5th graders at Clay Hill to purchase school logo jackets as memorabilia before they advance to their next educational level. In addition to the jackets, the Lieber chapter of the South Carolina Correctional Association donated a check for $300.00 to the school to be used for purchasing various essential supplies. Other donations of canned goods and food from Lieber will supplement the school's food drive for area homeless shelters.

"This is just another way for Lieber CI and SCDC to give back to this community that has supported us and our mission so well," stated Warden McFadden.
